THURSDAY, APRIL 2, 1872.

STATE CONVENTION.
The State Convention of the Democratic-Conservative Party of North Carolina will meet at Greensboro on Wednesday, the first day of May next.

COUNTY CONVENTION.
The Conservative and Democratic Citizens of Wake County will hold a Convention at the Court House in this city, on Saturday, April 13th, 1872, for the purpose of selecting delegates to represent the county in the approaching State Convention, at Greensboro, and to form a more perfect organization for the coming campaign. Chairmen of township committees are requested to hold primary meetings in their respective townships and select delegates to attend this (county) Convention.

G. H. SNOW,
Ch'n County Executive Committee.

DEMOCRATIC CONSERVATIVE MEETING.

There will be a meeting of the Democratic Conservative party of the county of Granville, in the court house at Oxford, on Saturday, the 13th of April next, for the purpose of selecting delegates to the Greensboro and Congressional Conventions and for making arrangements for the ensuing campaign. The various townships are requested to hold meetings and select delegates to the same. J. T. LITTLEJOHN, Chair'n Ex. Com for the county of Granville.

PERSONAL RESPONSIBILITY.

"In the coming campaign every man is not only expected to do his duty, but his co-operation with the opponents of Radicalism is absolutely necessary in order to secure a complete triumph of the Democratic and Conservative party, and the restoration of honest officials and good government. Every man who is opposed to the corruptions, lawlessness, and the tyranny of Radical government should come forth and proclaim it by his vote. It is not only his right, but his highest duty to do so.—Salisbury Examiner."

The Salisbury Examiner concludes a timely and admirable article on the "Crime of Political Indifference" with the paragraph quoted above. That paper shows very conclusively that the elections in this State, which have been won by the Radicals, might easily have been carried by the Democrats if our full strength had been polled. Allowing ten thousand voters as the number of white Radicals, and eighty thousand negro voters, we have the whole Radical strength at ninety thousand. A full vote of the State would aggregate over two hundred thousand. This would make the Democratic strength one hundred and ten thousand, being a majority of twenty thousand.

In this estimate, we have put the Conservative vote at lower figures than the records justify, and the Radical strength somewhat above the usual calculation.

The question may be asked, why is it, with a registered majority of at least twenty thousand, the Conservatives have heretofore had any difficulty in carrying the election? The answer is plain. The Conservatives have failed to vote on the day of election. The Radicals, seven eighths of whom are negroes, are compactly organized, and vote as one man. A large number of our party in every county remain at home, and thus the election goes against us by default. That this is the true state of the case will be readily seen if any one will take the returns from any county and compare the registered vote with the vote actually cast.

The apathy of a handful of Conservatives in each county has been the sole cause of our political defeats in North Carolina. A number of good and honest men, having become tired of strife and discouraged on account of the impoverished and unhappy condition to which Radicalism has brought the country, appear to have lost hope of ever changing the aspect of affairs, and to have utterly despaired of any amelioration. They have become disgusted with Radical rule. They have become disheartened by military oppressions, and seem to think it is entirely useless to put forth any exertions to remedy the evils and burdens which are bearing the country down still lower in poverty and distress. With the loss of their property, with the loss of their prosperity, and with the loss of their Constitutional rights, they have ceased to feel that interest in the welfare of the country which no good citizen can neglect and faithfully discharge the paramount obligations resting upon him.

In view of the political situation in our State, as presented by the foregoing facts, it will be at once perceived how great is the personal responsibility resting upon each individual member of the Conservative party to cast his vote at the next election. If each one shall do this, then our triumph is assured. There need be no misapprehension as to the result in August next or November.

If every opponent of Radicalism in North Carolina will come out on the first Thursday in August and vote against the Radical party, we will carry the State by twenty thousand majority.

Will not the hearts of the true men of the State take courage from these plain statements of facts?

Truly, indifference is crime and apathy hands and grasp the prize of victory! How can a patriot reconcile it to his conscience and his sense of duty to remain an indifferent spectator, when the salvation of his State is trembling in the balance? How can he look on, unmoved, at a contest waged for the protection of the rights and liberties of his countrymen, and in defence of the honor and prosperity of the State, and refuse to cast his suffrage, and exert his influence, in favor of right, and honesty, and good government?

Personal responsibility does not cease with the mere act of voting. That is the chief, but by no means the only, obligation resting upon every individual member of the Conservative party. We must all labor for the cause. Each one of us should feel a direct personal interest in the contest and see to it that all our influence is brought to bear. Let each man feel that his State demands of him a full discharge of his duty, and let each resolve that that duty shall be performed at all hazards, faithfully, fearlessly, nobly!

When this spirit shall be infused into our organization, the days of Radicalism will be forever numbered, and its putrid corpse will be buried so deep in North Carolina that it will never more disturb the nostrils of honest men.

WILL COLFAX BE RENOMINATED.

It is conceded on all hands that Grant will be nominated by the Radicals for re-election. But the re-nomination of Vice-President Colfax is by no means so certain. Indeed, we have heard of only one State, Indiana, that has yet declared for him, while a majority of the States have declared for Grant. It will be remembered that several months ago, Colfax wrote a very magnanimous and wonderfully disinterested letter to some of his political friends, in which he expressed his unalterable and final determination to quit politics and retire to private life. He stated that nothing could induce him to be again a candidate for office—that at the close of his present term he should abandon public life forever.

Colfax is now represented as being exceedingly anxious to be nominated again. A change has suddenly come over the spirit of his dream. The lust for office has again seized him, and he is pining for the spoils. What has produced this remarkable alteration of mind, we have not yet been informed. It seems to be certainly true, however, paradoxical it may appear, that Colfax has miraculously reeled his irrevocable resolution. This is allowable in law, in case of last wills and testaments, but the doctrine does not hold in case of ordinary deeds of contract. In declaring his purpose not to be a candidate for re-election, Colfax made a political contract, to which no doubt the aspirants for his place on the Radical ticket will be disposed to hold him.

We notice that the Republicans of Iowa have declared for James F. Wilson, for Vice President. Ohio has declared in favor of Dennison. The Baltimore American is for Gen. J. C. Abbott, of North Carolina, while the North Carolina Radicals are pressing the names of Governor Holden and Senator Pool.

NEW YORK LIBERALS.

Some of the most distinguished Republicans of New York have thrown themselves, body and soul, into the Liberal movement, and have responded to the call for the Cincinnati Convention in a manner which shows that they are thoroughly estranged from the Administration and are determined to use their utmost efforts to defeat Grant. The most influential and active Republicans of the State—men who have been connected with the Republican party from its birth, have signed a manifesto, expressing their sympathy with the purposes of the Cincinnati Convention, and their determination to be present and co-operate in the line of action that will be agreed on there.

This endorsement of the Missouri movement by the New York Republicans, is full of hope for the country, and gives assurance that the Cincinnati Convention will be a formidable gathering of the opponents of Grant, which will draw from the Radical party an immense number of voters. The name of Horace Greeley, which appears in the New York manifesto, shows that this distinguished Republican has cut himself entirely adrift from the Administration, and his name to the movement will give it a tower of strength, not only in New York, but throughout the entire North.

STILL DIMINISHING.

The majority for Jewell, the Republican candidate for Governor of Connecticut, continues to get smaller. Our first telegrams puts his majority at seven hundred. This was on Monday night. On Tuesday, it fell down to two hundred. Yesterday's noon dispatches report it to be about thirty! At this rate of diminution we will have the pleasure of chronicling the triumph of the Democratic candidate before the end of the week.

We take it that the thirty majority means a majority over the Democratic, Labor Reform and Temperance candidates. The official vote may defeat the popular election, and throw the choice for Governor in the Legislature. In that event, of course Jewell will be chosen.

"Permission is given Democrats by the News to steal as much as they can get their hands on."—Carolina Era.
This is decidedly original with the new political Editor of that paper has been made to swim by his too sudden temporary elevation, on the retirement of Col. Hanes. We hope he will pardon us for calling him his Accidency No. 2, as Gov. Caldwell is known as his Accidency, and par mobile fratrum! are these two delectable Accidencies!

But we repeat, this brilliant scintillation of the Era's wit is decidedly original, and so absurdly so that it carries its own refutation on its face. We could not be guilty of the supreme folly of giving "permission to Democrats to steal as much as they can get their hands on," when it is notorious that the Era's political friends have already stolen everything in the State without permission, and have swept the platter clean.

And his Accidency in Chief, or his Accidency the Governor, or his Accidency No. 1, or his Accidency King Tod, or by whatever designation he may be known, aided by other Radical custodians of the law, has been much more unsuccessful in getting his hands on the rogues than the rogues were in getting their hands on the funds belonging to the State.

Gen. Laffin, a prominent leader of the Era's party left the State, as he publicly boasted, because there was nothing left to steal after the Radical Legislature adjourned.

The Era's Radical friends have stolen without leave or license from any body, and they have stolen, not grudgingly, but by the wholesale and without stint.

Colfax and the Vice-Presidency.

The contest between Vice-President Colfax and the numerous aspirants for his place on the ticket with Grant, becomes warmer as the time for the meeting of the Philadelphia Convention approaches. There is a marked determination among the leading Grant Republicans to lay Colfax upon the shelf. His strongest competitor appears to be Senator Wilson, of Massachusetts. No State convention has formerly instructed letters from leading Republicans in different parts of the country, urging him to remain in the field, as a candidate, and assuring him of their co-operation. Wilson claims to be especially strong in the South, and it is stated that Cameron and Forney have pledged him the Pennsylvania delegation. Colfax is growing quite jealous of Wilson, and the relations between them are not as cordial as they were when Colfax entertained the delusion that he would have the field all to himself. It has been alleged that Grant favored Colfax, but there is reason to believe that he occupies the same disinterested position that the man did who, from a safe place, witnessed the fight between his wife and the bear.—Washington Correspondent N. Y. World.

Checks and Drafts on Banks, etc., in other cities, and Sight Drafts on Merchants in Norfolk, may be included in depositing.

Collections made at all points and accounted for promptly.

Accounts of Merchants, Farmers, Banks and Bankers in the interior are solicited, and will receive special attention. Correspondents will receive immediate advice of collections and other payments to their credit.

Remittances will receive prompt acknowledgment, and when made in Northern funds will be credited as such and depositors may check upon same in like funds if they shall so desire.

Notes and Acceptances made payable at our Bank, will always be paid by us, when in funds from the makers, and charged to account and returned with other vouchers and statement of accounts monthly.

We will also promptly, and without profit to us, execute orders from our Correspondents and Customers for purchase or sale of Bonds, Stocks, Gold and Foreign Exchange, and will furnish our friends with special information when desired.

We will also attend to the investment of money upon Real Estate Security, and in this connection would call the attention of our friends to the advantages attending such investments in the city of Norfolk.

Under the laws of Virginia any rate of interest not exceeding twelve per cent. per annum, may be agreed upon by contracting parties, and large amounts of money can be put at interest in this city upon unexceptionable security at ten per cent. interest in most cases being made payable semi-annually.

The attention of fiduciaries and others is called to the fact that we allow interest at the rate of five per cent. on all deposits, when special arrangements are made therefore.

Interest credited on the first of January and July in each year, thus compounding semi-annually.

THE DREAMS.

Oh! there is a dream of early youth,
And it never comes again;
Tis a vision of light, of the life and truth,
That floats across the brain;
And life is the theme of that early dream,
So mild, so warm, so new,
That all our after years I deem
That early dream we rue.

Oh! there is a dream of maturer years,
More turbulent by far;
Tis a vision of blood, of woman's tears,
For the theme of that dream is war;
And we told in the field of danger and death,
And about in the battle array,
Till we find that fate is a bodiless breath,
That vanishes away.

Oh! there is a dream of hoary age,
Tis a vision of gold in the figured page,
To be counted o'er and o'er;
And we fondly trust in our glittering dust,
As a refuge from grief and pain,
Till our limbs are laid on that last dark bed,
Where the wealth of the world is vain.

And is it thus from man's birth to his grave,
In the path which we all are treading?
Is there naught in that long career to save
From remorse and self-upbraiding?
O yes—there is a dream so pure, so bright,
That the being to whom it is given,
Has dreamed in him of living light,
And the end of that dream is Heaven.

IMPORTANT INSURANCE DECISION.
Chief Justice Chase has recently delivered an opinion in the Supreme Court of the United States, in the case of Steinbock against the Relief Fire Insurance Company, of New York, which is of considerable importance to dealers in fire-crackers. The action was brought on a policy of insurance on the plaintiff's stock of fancy goods, toys and other articles in his line of business, as a German jobber and importer. It was stipulated in writing that he should be privileged to keep fire-crackers on sale. It appearing that at the time of the fire the plaintiff had fireworks in his store for sale, he offered evidence that he was a German jobber and importer, for the purpose of showing that they were covered by the written words of the policy. "The Court rejected the evidence, and the judgment was for the company. The higher court affirms the judgment, saying that there can be no doubt that the evidence was properly rejected."—Exchange.

NOT BAD.—A correspondent of the New York Star says some good things about the doings in Gotham, and among them, makes this quiet fling at the Herald's correspondence:

I met my old friend, the Herald correspondent, yesterday.
He still lives at Sweeney's, and has a very comfortable little room indeed. I asked him when he came back from Africa, and he said he had just got in, and now he was in North Carolina.

I asked him if it wasn't rather a heavy draught on his imagination, and he said "yes," but heavy draughts of ale made the whole thing square.

The mean thing about it is, that Bennett won't increase his salary, keeps him first in Africa, then in North Carolina, and then at the police courts, and all on eighteen dollars a week.

Some of our particular friends who are in the habit, when they find a customer, of placing too high an estimate upon their stock, may profit by the following conversation between two parties in an adjacent county town:

"Bob, that's a fine horse you have there; how much is he worth?"
"Three hundred and fifty dollars."
"Not so much as that?"
"Yes, every cent of it; and another fifty on the top of it."
"Are you sure?"
"Yes, I'd swear to it."
"All right."
"Why are you so inquisitive?"

"Merely for assessing purposes. I am Assessor for this ward, and I only wanted to know at what you rated your nag."

Human nature shows many strange inconsistencies. How often do we find the strong and great possessed of petty foibles that would seem ill in even the lowest and weakest; and how often do we find in the weak, temporary gleams of greatness?

Many a man has lived in poverty and want, compelled by force of circumstances to do small, unimportant work, which he loathed, who had the heart of a prince; many a prince has lived whose soul was unworthy the body of a peasant.

We learn wisdom from failure more than from success; for when we often discover what will not do, by finding out what will do, and he who never made a mistake, never made a discovery.

Keep doing, always doing—remembering that wishing, dreaming, intending, musing, and sighing, and re-peating are all idle and profitless employments.

He who toys with time, trifles with a frozen serpent, which afterwards turns upon the hand that indulged the sport, and inflicts a deadly wound.
